Building Commissioning is the professional practice that ensures buildings are delivered according to the owner's project requirements. Buildings that are properly commissioned typically have fewer change orders, tend to be more energy efficient, and have lower operation and maintenance costs.

This presentation will provide a brief history of the evolution of the commissioning process, and an overview of the process and its implementation.

Jeff Traylor is a Professional Engineer registered in NC and several other states. He has been involved in the commissioning process for 20 years. He has served on several ASHRAE committees writing the various guidelines and standards that govern and define the commissioning process. He was an instructor at the University of Wisconsin, Department of Engineering and Professional Development for 15 years. He has led the commissioning team for several projects at Duke University Medical Center, the Texas Department of Corrections, the University of Texas, and many other facilities in the USA. He is considered a subject matter expert on the process.

Please click on the link below to register; the cost to attend is $25 for members and $35 for non-members. You can now pre-pay as you register with a credit card or PayPal account, mail a check, or pay at the door with cash or check. We cannot accept credit cards at the event.
