Dear Fellow Professional :

Please consider our special invitation to attend this special field trip on the design and construction of the Center for Leadership Building in Cary. We will hear about the Center for Leadership Studies' architectural needs for their new office, and the subsequent design of that building. Finally, we will take a tour of the building. Presentations will be given by Dr. Sam Shriver of the Center for Leadership Studies, and David B. Bradford, AIA, LEED AP, of 310 Architecture and Interiors.

The building and interior facilities were designed and constructed to meet the unique business requirements for the Center for Leadership Studies to facilitate its ability to connect and integrate learning professionals on-site with Fortune 500 companies and with more than thirty countries. Some on-site innovations include special lighting features, state-of-the art technology integration including Skype in break-out meeting rooms, and ability to communicate in local languages.

Sam Shriver is the Chief Sales and Marketing Officer of The Center for Leadership Studies (CLS).

David Bradford has honed his design skills over a 35-year career. He earned his Bachelor of Science in Architecture with honors from Ohio State University. He works to uphold his values of serving his clients through exceptional design and a commitment to sustainability. David is a registered architect in Ohio and (NCARB) in North Carolina, South Carolina, Michigan, Georgia, Virginia and Colorado and is a member of the American Institute of Architects (AIA) as well as the Urban Land Institute (ULI).

310 Architecture & Interiors founded its practice five years ago when the three principals decided to leave a large firm they were with and create an architectural and interior design firm based on 3 services - architecture, interior design and branding. 310ai's understanding of the client's business and brand identity are expressed through the built form and spatial expression created for the client.

One (1.0) PDH will be provided. Please join us for this great event by clicking on the "Register Now" link below. If you cannot attend please let us know as well, and feel free to forward this invitation to as many others as you would like using the button below.
